ALARM IS FELT IN THE BALKANS

Jugo Slavia Attacks in Sofia
Jugo Slavia Gives Bulgaria 24 Hours to Pay Indemnity and Apologize.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Sofia, Nov. 6.—The menace of an armed clash again hovers today over the Balkans—the "cockpit of Europe."

The Bulgarian premier summoned a cabinet council to consider the 48 hour ultimatum of Jugo Slavia demanding indemnity for the attack upon the Jugo Slavia military attaché in this city on Friday.

Bulgarian officials said they expected a peaceful solution despite the menacing attitude adopted by Belgrade.

The government said an answer would be returned to Jugo Slavia within the time limit set by the ultimatum.

Besides the demand for an apology, the Belgrade note insisted that the question of actual indemnity be referred to the permanent court at the Hague instead of the League of Nations. It also demanded that Bulgaria arrest and punish the assassins.

Jugo Slavia considers the attack upon Colonel Krastich, the Jugo Slavia military attaché, a political action reflecting upon the government of the Jugo Slavia State.

Jugo Slavia's aggressive action has caused alarm throughout the Balkans. The situation holds the possibility of war which may drag in other nations than Bulgaria and Jugo Slavia.

It is felt, however, if the situation grows more acute the Allies powers will intervene.

NEW YORK THEY PREDICT A LIGHT VOTE

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Nov. 6.—A light vote in New York city and throughout the state was forecast by both Democratic and Republican leaders today.

In the election of assemblymen, justices of the supreme court, and a number of localities, city officials.

Chief interest centered in the Republican battle to control the 1924 assembly, and the Democratic fight to elect ten judges to the supreme court of New York and Bronx counties.

The Republicans, it was admitted at Democratic headquarters today, stood an excellent chance of capturing the assembly. "The Democrats, however, predicted their judicial candidates would win by majorities ranging from 75,000 to 125,000."

A number of constitutional amendments, of local interest to several communities, also appear on the ballot.

MELBOURNE HAS GUARDS WHILE POLICEMEN STRIKE

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Melbourne, Australia, Nov. 6.—Sporadic disorders broke out here again today as a result of the policemen's strike.

Armed guards are protecting banks and government buildings from looters. Stores are barricaded. Saloons have been closed.

The annual Melbourne cup, Australia's racing classic, was held as usual and passed off without disturbance, owing to the strong guard of special constables posted about the race track.

ELECTION DAY HOURS AT THE POST OFFICES

TOOK THREE DAYS TO OPEN POST-OFFICE SAFE

No Yegg Men to Solve Balky Combination—Harry Van Aken Opens It.

The big safe in the Rondout post office in the Mansion House was finally opened shortly after 10 o'clock Monday evening after Harry Van Aken had worked on it day and night since last Saturday with an electric drill and other tools. The combination of the safe went "bloody" last week and the big doors refused to swing open. The employees of the department worked hard at opening the safe, but all efforts proved unavailing.

There are no skilled cracksmen nearer than Sing Sing, so far as is known, so on Saturday Mr. Van Aken was called in as an expert and set to work to swing the combination of the safe. After considerable concentration on the job he decided that the only way would be to cut a square hole in the big door just above the combination and work the combination with his hands.

Today the safe doors were swinging open for the first time in a week, but as it will not be safe to again lock it no valuables will be kept in it until it can be repaired or replaced by a new safe.

BRITAIN FAILS TO MOVE POINCARÉ

Deadlock Appears, Dominant With French Standstall Out For Enforcing Restrictions On Proposed Conference Against Rest of World.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, Nov. 6.—Negotiations between Great Britain and France over the proposed international conference of reparations experts were perilously near a deadlock today.

Great Britain is considering Premier Poincaré's reply to the British representations which was in the form of a letter handed to Lord Crewe, British ambassador at Paris.

The foreign office says that the reply requests that the reparations inquiry be limited to an investigation of Germany's capacity for payment of indemnity over a limited period of years. It did not suggest any actual period nor time limit.

The letter did not refer to the Bezaud memorandum containing suggestions to obtain reparations from Germany.

The British view is that Premier Poincaré has not changed his attitude and that the letter only serves a change in the French premier's phraseology. He has not made any concessions whatsoever to the British viewpoint, despite the fact that Italy is supporting England and that the Belgians are becoming more friendly to English views.

France has made another suggestion which the British probably will oppose—that the personnel of the committee of inquiry be limited to the powers now represented upon inter-allied reparations commission.

France is especially opposed to certain groups of international bankers being appointed to the committee.

INVITES ALL TO RED CROSS RALLY

Friends and workers in the great cause undertaken by the American Red Cross are cordially invited to lend their aid and support to this year's Red Cross roll call by attending the meeting on Wednesday, November 7th, 3 p. m., at the Y. M. C. A., which will mark the opening of our work for the coming year.

Judge Hasbrouck and Rear Admiral Higginson will honor the occasion by short addresses and reports of organization of team members in each ward will be considered.

If each block of the city is covered and each house visited the roll call will be a huge success.

It is up to us to do it. Let's go!

WILLIAM C. DEWITT
City Chairman, 1923 Roll Call, American Red Cross.

COAL RATE HEARING HELD

Dealer Off Direct Line to Mines Has to Pay More Than One on Direct Line—Intimated that Present Coal Prices are Based on Off Line Rates.

A hearing upon anthracite coal rates was held Monday in Albany before U. Butler, examiner of the Interstate Commerce Commission, in the hearing room of the Public Service Commission, at which upon invitation of the Interstate Commerce Commission C. R. Vanneman, chief engineer, and W. E. Griggs, chief tariff clerk, representing the Public Service Commission, also sat. The hearing was a continuation of one started in Pittsburgh on September 24, 1923, since which time hearings have been held at Augusta, Me., Montpelier, Vt., and Boston, Mass. Other hearings are to be held in Rochester, New York and Philadelphia.

Messrs. H. A. Taylor, W. L. Kintner, R. W. Barrett, W. J. Larrabee and Alex. H. Elder appeared, representing the Western Rate Group Committee. Other appearances included H. T. Newcomb, for the Delaware and Hudson Company; C. L. Andrews, for New York, Ontario & Western Railway Company; R. K. Rantoul, for Boston & Maine Railroad; Emory N. Hamilton, F. L. Fullam, representing Peoples Coal Co. of Rutland, Vt.; Josiah D. Green of Albany, representing the cities of Cohoes and Troy, coal dealers in Albany; Schenectady and Scotia, and the Glens Falls Chamber of Commerce; J. W. Deming, representing C. L. Ames Coal Company of Syracuse, appeared in behalf of the consumers of coal.

The main point of the arguments presented was that the difference between the single line rate and the rate applicable to coal delivered to a dealer on an off line railroad mitigated to make it difficult for the off line dealer to compete successfully with those more favorably situated. Mr. Fullam testified that this condition served to increase the cost of coal to the consumer, and state that a level rate would undoubtedly result in a lower price for coal. J. D. Greene introduced several statements to support his contention that there should be a level rate, stating that the absence of such rate made it practically impossible for dealers in Cohoes on the New York Central Railroad to compete with those on the Delaware & Hudson Company. It was intimated that the present retail price for coal was based on the off line rate, so that a reduction to a level rate would result in a lower price to the consumer.

However, it was testified that the cost of coal at the mines is higher for independent company coal than it is for the so-called company coal. Mr. Green, on being cross-examined, stated that while it was his opinion that there should be an equalization of rates, he was not in favor of curtailing the carriers' revenues.

The participation of the Public Service Commission in this hearing is in line with the existing plans for closer cooperation between State Commissions and the Interstate Commerce Commission through such channels as may be deemed appropriate and effective.

DISTINGUISHED GUESTS IN PARKER PARTY

On the occasion of Lloyd George's speech at the Metropolitan Opera House in New York recently, Mr. and Mrs. Alton B. Parker had as their guests Colonel and Mrs. Edward M. House, Judge and Mrs. Rich, Judge and Mrs. Crane, Judge Cardozo, Mrs. Adolph Lodenburg, Mrs. Nelson C. Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Anchelclass, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall, Mrs. Charles Mercer Hall, Miss Mary Hall and Clarence Sager.

A delegation from the Sulgrave Institution, headed by John A. Steuart, chairman of the board of governors, and Mrs. Alton B. Parker, chairman of the women's committee, presented Lloyd George with the insignia of Sulgrave on board the S. S. Majestic just before he sailed. He also accepted honorary life membership and spoke feelingly of the work that is being done in promoting friendly relations between Great Britain and the United States when he said:

"I feel honored in accepting this insignia, the emblem of the Sulgrave Institution. For many years it has worked valiantly and efficiently in the furtherance of the greatest cause on earth, namely the unity and cooperation of the English speaking peoples for human welfare. We on the other side are mindful of the great service which the Sulgrave Institution has been devoting to the cause of this friendship. I wish through this delegation to thank it for the honor that has been conferred upon me."

SEA RUM-RUNNING THE BIG PROBLEM

Reports Daugherty's Woman Aid—Coast Guard Equipment Inadequate to Deal With It.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Nov. 6.—Mrs. Mabel Willibrand, the assistant attorney general in charge of prohibition enforcement, declared today in a report to Attorney General Daugherty that sea-going rum-running remains the greatest single enforcement problem which the federal government has to face, and admitted that no accurate approximation could be made of the vast amount of liquor smuggled into the United States each year.

"The liquor smuggling business is the biggest criminal problem the United States has ever faced on the high seas," Mrs. Willibrand said.

"The coast guard is our police force within our territorial waters, and is assisted by the customs officers and the prohibition unit of the treasury department, and the United States marshals and their deputies of the department of justice of the coastal states."

"The coast guard is the only force having equipment to deal with smuggling on the high seas and observation is convincing that its equipment is not sufficient to suppress it along our Atlantic and Pacific coast lines."

After stating that it was impossible to estimate the amount of liquor smuggled into the United States, Mrs. Willibrand's report called attention to the liquor exports from Nassau in the Bahamas to this country during the last fiscal year. These exports reached a total of $7,059,294.

"The importations of liquor to Nassau for the same period," Mrs. Willibrand said, "amounted in value to approximately $4,500,000, the difference in the figures representing the bootleggers' profits as a result of operations carried on through this one West Indian port."

With reference to the Daugherty ruling that foreign vessels may not carry liquor within the American three-mile limit, the report cited a number of instances where foreign registered vessels have been seized, libeled and the officers' crews indicted. Cases against nine such vessels are now pending in the courts.

Another problem discussed by Mrs. Willibrand was the problem of keeping liquor, automobiles and other property seized by the government. These charges amounted to $200,000 last year, and the department is insisting that United States attorneys seize property as soon as possible.

FARCE TO BE GIVEN AT ST. JAMES'S CHURCH

Two young men scheming against an unsuspecting aunt and carrying their joke a little too far forms a very interesting plot for the one act farce, "His Model Wife," which will be presented by the W. T. W. Class of the St. James Sunday school in the church on Wednesday evening, November 14, at 8 o'clock.

The scenes are laid in an artist's studio and the complications that arise are more than amusing. Imminently to present to your aunt just when she is about to leave for the office, her of the reality of the thing to be given away and unloved as an impostor before everyone. They have the bride on the spot for evidence but the mysterious minister who married them was the one fear of discovery.

Preceding the play you will be entertained with a very clever monologue by Mrs. Pansy Hudner.

T. H. Richards is taking complete charge of the production and the cast is really excellent, assuring everyone an evening of delightful entertainment.

KOHL AND CUNEO SUCCESSFUL DEER HUNTERS

Two fine buck deer were shot on Monday in the town of Marlborough, one by Tony Kohl in the morning about 8:30 o'clock and the other later by John J. Cuneo. They are of a party of hunters who are making their headquarters in a bungalow near the Joseph Cuneo hotel which is known as the Tone-Kohl Inn in the Stone Church neighborhood.

Among others in the party are Joseph Cuneo, Valentine Paul, Joseph Smith and Dr. A. L. Hill. They report having seen several deer and each of the hunters have shot at some of them but without success in killing one. Tony Kohl about two weeks ago while hunting in the Adirondacks shot a large buck deer.

Paris, Nov. 6.—The French cabinet today approved Premier Poincaré's instructions to Jules Jusserand, French ambassador at Washington, regarding the French limitations for the proposed international conference of reparations experts. It considered M. Jusserand's report of his interview with Secretary of State Hughes, but did not disclose the contents.

PROBING MURDER IN KLAN RANKS

Philip Fox, Charged With Shooting Coburn, Declines to Talk Except to Say He'd Rather Be Hung Than Ruined.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 6.—Police, detectives and special investigators today instigated a sweeping investigation into the sensational events that resulted in the slaying of William S. Coburn, prominent Atlanta attorney and counsel for Simmons faction of the Ku Klux Klan.

Philip Fox whom police charge with the slaying, still refused early today to make any formal statement.

"Under the circumstances, it was the only thing I could do, I could not do anything different," said Fox when locked in a cell at the police station. When Policeman Cochran was taking him to the station Fox asked if Coburn was dead. Upon receiving an affirmative reply, he said, according to the policeman:

"I'm glad of it. He would have ruined me. I had rather be hung than ruined."

Outside of these two statements, Fox has maintained sealed lips. Soon after the shooting late yesterday, special investigators from the solicitor's office questioned two witnesses to the shooting, Coburn's stenographer, Mrs. M. J. Holbrook, and a chauffeur, Mrs. Oscar Hayman, and also questioned all others who might have knowledge of the crime.

Following their investigation, they announced that the state is now ready to charge Philip E. Fox with the murder.

It is understood that this would be the result of a concerted action on the part of the Evans faction.

The detectives, however, would not give their views as to the motive for the crime. A small package of Coburn's legal papers, turned over to Police Captain T. O. Sturdivant by H. J. Norton, will, it is thought, solve the motive mystery. This package contains a legal document which Coburn is said to have prepared for his other injunction suits against the Klan.

One of these suits was filed yesterday, a few hours before the shooting. It was the suit of William Joseph Simmons, Imperial emperor, against Hiram Evans, Imperial wizard, and the women of the Klan, which sought to restrain them from going ahead with the organization of the women's division of the organization.

Officials of the Simmons faction have charged that the shooting was the result of a concerted action on the part of the Evans faction.

"The murder was a direct result of the recent expose of the present Klan administration," said Norton, exalted cyclops of Klan No. 1, Atlanta, which has succeeded from the Evans faction of the order.

MASONS LAY CORNERSTONE OF CHURCH IN NEWBURGH

The Newburgh News says: In the presence of an assemblage of more than 1,500 persons the corner stone of the Italian Reformed Church of Our Savior was laid with imposing ceremonies on Sunday afternoon, by the Grand Lodge of Free Masons of the State of New York, Grand Master Arthur S. Tompkins, presiding, assisted by a full corps of Right Worshipful officers.

The ceremonial took place on the tenth anniversary of the founding of the congregation in Newburgh by Rev. Pietro S. Moncada, the present pastor, who opened the church for Protestant Italians in the building that had at one time been known as the People's Baptist Church, of which the Rev. Edward A. Tuck, now of New Hampshire, was pastor. The church was sufficiently large for the infant congregation, but entirely unfit for the uses it was intended for as the number increased. A movement was set on foot to secure a larger and more up-to-date building. In 1919 the frame structure was removed to a lot on the west side of Ann street, directly adjoining the site of the church in which the congregation had its birth, and where it had prospered even beyond the fondest expectation.

THIS TRIO STARTED TO CELEBRATE ELECTION EARLY

THREE KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Weston, Mass., Nov. 6.—Three persons were killed, two were probably fatally injured and two others were less seriously hurt when a rear wheel of a touring car came off and caused the car to swerve into a tree on the Worcester Pike at Cutter's Corner, this town early today.

The more seriously injured were Miss Ina Downey, twenty-five years old of Boston, fractured skull and Miss Martha McPherson, also of Boston, fractured skull. Michael J. O'Brien, forty years old, of Roslindale, driver of the car and Michael Downey, twenty-three years old, were also hurt. O'Brien was held on a manslaughter charge.

The party of young people spent the evening at a Suburb Road House and were returning home at the time of the accident.

LOAF REDUCED TO 80 BILLION MARKS

To Prevent Lid Blowing Off In Berlin—Uprising on Friday Is Newest Fear—Hitler Troops Terrify Thuringian Border.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Berlin, Nov. 6.—Fearing further food riots, the government today lowered the price of bread to 80,000,000 marks a loaf.

Excluded groups of people gathered in the streets, feverishly discussing the economic situation and the growing scarcity of food. It is now reported that the long heralded "putsch" (uprising) is scheduled for Friday, the anniversary of the revolution of 1918.

Heavy forces of police are patrolling the streets, especially in north Berlin where the workers live.

Every blank wall and bill-board is plastered with President Ebert's proclamation calling upon all loyal citizens to rally to the support of the government to save the republic. There was much bitter comment, especially in the quarters inhabited by the poor people. Workmen branded the proclamation as "crap of paper which does not give us bread."

Lurid stories from certain correspondents in Bavaria are causing much indignation in Berlin. They may lead to a tight censorship on all German news. It is an open secret that the Bavarian revolutionaries are supported by funds from big industries and have been busy carrying on propaganda comparable to the old Prussian style, trying to ensure articles antagonistic to the republic.

Some correspondents were unwittingly victimized by propaganda, or dazzled by the splendor of Bavarian military pomp, forgetting that the Bavarian reaction represents the evil of old imperial Germany's militarism.

The Hitlerites are raising the propaganda cry that the Thuringian peasants complain of plundering and looting by the Reds.

The truth is that the Hitler troops are swashbuckling along the Thuringian frontier riding rough-shod over the Thuringian border farmers, seizing horses and requisitioning food stuffs.

FORMER CROWN PRINCE MAY NOT MOVE, AFTER ALL

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Night sessions of the Moran Business School, Bargevin Building, will be conducted tonight, as usual, from 7 to 9:30.

ELECTIONS TODAY IN MANY STATES

Washington Watching Contests For Congress as Index To What Will Be Popular in Presidential Campaign.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Nov. 6.—National political leaders watched with great interest and not a little anxiety today the trend of off-year elections in a dozen states. They hope to obtain by today's contests an insight into the temper of the electorate generally with relation to the approaching presidential campaign.

Congressional elections are being held today in seven states: New York, Illinois, North Carolina, Vermont, Kentucky, Arkansas and Mississippi, with one seat in the senate and ten seats in the house at stake.

Three states, Maryland, Mississippi and Kentucky, are electing governors. In other states, state assemblies are being chosen and various state, county and municipal measures voted upon.

Because of the narrow Republican majorities in both houses of congress more than usual interest attaches to these contests today.

The single senatorial election today is in Vermont, where Porter H. Dale, Republican, is opposed by Park H. Pollard, Democrat, a cousin of President Coolidge. The principal issue there has been modification of the Volstead act, Dale being endorsed by the Anti-Saloon League, and Pollard favoring modification.

The senate line-up is now fifty Republicans, 45 Democrats and two Farmer-Labor. A Democratic victory in Vermont today would leave the Republicans with a majority of only four over all—admittedly too close for Republican comfort.

Ordinarily Vermont could be counted as safely Republican, but because of the nature of the contest this year the Democrats are hopeful of breaking into the rock ribbed state, and believe they have a fighting chance.

Of the ten seats in the house on the block today, the Democrats claim seven as certainly Democratic, and are hopeful of obtaining two others. Those claimed as certainly Democratic are two in New York city proper and one each in Illinois, Arkansas, North Carolina, Kentucky and Mississippi. In each of these districts the Democratic incumbents have died. The two Democrats are hopeful of obtaining, are up state New York the 24th and 32nd districts. One vacancy in Vermont is generally conceded to be Republican.

The house now is composed of 221 Republicans, 201 Democrats, and three scattered as Independent, Farmer-Labor and Socialist. Victory today for the Democratic candidates in the seven districts claimed as certain, would give the Republicans a majority in the new congress of only 13 over all. As in the senate, this margin is too slim for G. O. P. complacency. The three states voting on governors today probably will go Democratic according to reports reaching political headquarters here although in both Kentucky and Maryland the Republicans claim to have a fighting chance. Particularly in Kentucky are the Republicans hopeful. There has been a hard campaign in the Blue Grass state with both parties sending in orators of national reputation to try to swing the tide.

BABY CONFERENCE AT CITY HALL

Second Weekly Conference Under Auspices of the Junior League on Wednesday From 1 to 5 p. m.

The second weekly conference for well babies will be held by the Junior League nurse at the board of health rooms at the city hall Wednesday afternoon from 1 to 5 o'clock. Babies will be weighed and their measurements taken, and mothers are invited to bring their babies to the conference, which will be conducted by Miss Doris Hasbrouck, the Junior League nurse, assisted by Miss Mary Hall.

Measurements and weights of children indicate their general condition of health, and it is often possible to take proper steps to prevent future illness if the child is known to be underweight or underdeveloped. Children of pre-school age may be brought to the conference and there will be no charge for the conference service.

The success of the first conference a week ago indicates that there will be a large attendance of babies at Wednesday's conference.

Wood Poisons.

In your youth, if not in your later wanderings in the country districts you may have been stung by poison ivy and poison oak. For ivy poisoning a good treatment is salt water. Another good application is one teaspoonful of borax acid in a quart of hot water. Avoid the creeper with three divided leaves. The harmless creepers have five leaves. Avoid the small shrub with the broad leaves like the oak. This is the poison oak. Give a wide berth to the sumac which grows in swampy places.

Buick Open Cars are Stormtight

Perfect protection is provided from rain and wind. The lower frame of the windshield fits into a permanent rubber grommet. Moulded rubber seals every joint between the frames and posts. At the top a new weatherstrip, steel reinforced, excludes all air that might enter between the windshield and top, and side curtains button to the windshield, instead of the posts, covering the slight crack between them.

In addition to these and numerous other refinements, Buick four-wheel brakes afford a greater degree of safety on all models.

To Determine All- Wool Dress Goods

Burning or Acid Test Will Settle Question When There Is Doubt.

At this season of the year, almost every woman is buying wool dress material, notes a fashion correspondent. The question uppermost in her mind as she is trying to choose the best for the money she feels justified in spending is, "How much of this is wool?"

Some few brands of cloth have all-wool guarantees, and a very few large stores have testing laboratories where cloth samples may be tested, but for the large majority of women purchasers the testing must be done by themselves, and in their own homes.

Most wool and cotton mixtures are made after the yarn is spun. Because of this, the thread test, made with threads raveled from a cut sample, is the most satisfactory. Tests must be made on threads going in each direction, for substitution is often made in the warp while an all-wool filling is used.

The simplest method of determining the character of the thread is by the burning test. A thread of cotton will burn with a flash and almost no odor, while one of wool burns slowly, almost melts back, and gives off the familiar acid odor.

This simply tells whether or not a certain thread is wool. It is not practical as a test for the percentage of wool in a given sample. To determine that more complicated methods will be needed, but in the household where much sewing is done it will pay to provide the material necessary and to test each sample before purchasing.

The materials necessary are two small glass beakers, a glass stirring rod, a bottle of 50 per cent solution of nitric acid, one of strong household ammonia and one of 5 per cent solution of either sodium or potassium hydroxide. A gas jet or alcohol lamp will be necessary to furnish heat and a small metal stand with a square of wire gauze on which the beakers may stand.

If the material is white or light-colored the nitric acid test is most evident. Cover the samples to be tested in one of the beakers with nitric acid. In a few moments the wool will turn a bright yellow, for nitric acid will turn any animal fiber that color. Cotton is unaffected. Pour off the acid, wash in clear water and cover with ammonia. This time the yellow threads will turn orange. When the mixing of cotton and wool has been made in the yarn when carding, as is sometimes the case in flannel, it may be thus detected.

Dyed materials will not show the nitric acid tests, so other methods must be used with them. Wool dissolves if boiled for ten minutes in either the sodium or potassium hydroxide. Cotton is unattacked. Sometimes this will prove a complete set of cotton threads one way. Often it will simply weaken the web in both sets of threads. At any rate, it will show you whether you are buying wool or cotton.

Often it is economical and practical to buy cotton and wool mixtures, especially if the material must be laundered. But you really are entitled to know which you are getting and to pay the price accordingly.

Care must be exercised in the use of acids to avoid touching other materials or getting them on one's hands. Bottles containing the solution used should be plainly marked and not kept in the same place with any medicines. They are poison and should be labeled such.

MEANS HARD WORK

While a political campaign is interesting, few have any idea of the work that must be done between the date of filing petitions and the closing of the polls on election night. A campaign means to many just a series of speeches by opposing candidates and the distribution of literature setting forth the aims and objects of the two dominant political parties. This is about all that appears on the surface, but to assemble the facts required to substantiate the arguments of each side is far from play.

Those who are no more active in politics than the ordinary voter do not realize that from the time the petitions are distributed by those who intend to run in the primaries until election day it means three months or more of the hardest kind of work, and it does not cease until the polls are closed in November. Under the election law there are many details that have to be looked after, and to do things in a slipshod manner is dangerous. It is not infrequent when a faulty petition means that all the hopes of a candidate are ruined, some provision being overlooked or not performed according to the statute.

As to the speeches and the literature, every fact must be obtained and verified before it can be used. To get matter together means diligent inquiry so that when a statement is made or a paragraph printed it will stand the test of attack. Without the most careful attention any headway in a campaign would be out of the question. And somebody must do that work. It is exacting, not most of it, but all of it, and is not done in a four-hour day or five-day week.

However, the campaign is over and it is the same old year as it always has been and always will be. After the results are announced the people go back to their daily tasks, whether they voted for winners or losers. The defeated console themselves that there is another day coming, and the winners enjoy the opportunity to help in the work that must be done in the simple matter of government, a matter in which altogether too few take an active part. Government is the responsibility of all and not just an individual or group of individuals, which is something the people should realize much more fully than they at times indicate.

FEWER PIONEERS.

Accounts indicate that the lure of the city, which is a problem of every country, promises to threaten not only the progress but the maintenance of at least the remoter sections of the British empire. In former times there were always Englishmen of a good class ready to adventure into the wildest places and help build up the farthest colonial settlements, but now young Englishmen of the same class and of every class are yielding more and more to the lure of the crowded centers of population. Under the mandate system the British empire came out of the World War with greatly enlarged boundaries. But the vast regions now opened to exploitation, commercial possibilities and the production of raw materials seem destined to very slow development for lack of population.

Young Englishmen are not answering the call of the new African territories and few are going overseas in any direction to undertake pioneer life. Out of 299,000 under 20 years registered as unemployed, only 25,000 have taken advantage of the aid offered by the Government and by private agencies. That such aid and such opportunities go begging clearly indicates that the old pioneering spirit has greatly declined. The drift of British emigrants is now said to be toward large American cities instead of the vacant lands of far British dominions. Should this change become permanent, and still more marked, the outer fringes of the British empire may be reclaimed by their native populations for lack of a single Englishman to say them nay.

APPLE GROWING.

While the apple trees of America still red with gleaming bouquets of fruit is perhaps the most substantial and valuable of all fruits, it is an appropriate time to discuss apple growing, plan apple position and call conventions of apple growers. As is now going down. The rivalry between East and West can do no harm and is at best a point of increasing excellence in the product. Long ago "Johnny Appleseed" carried the apple seeds from the East into the Western wilderness, and in the far West especially the Eastern product has been greatly improved in size and beauty, but not in flavor. Much of the very handsome fruit from the Pacific States has little else to recommend it, recalling those old-time "apples of Sodom" which appeared to the eye but offered no taste to the extent that the phrase, "ashes upon the tongue." Apples are apples but for a few look better than the rest, and there is no good reason for the growers of the East to yield to those of the West merely because the latter's product is more showy. With superior flavor attainable, the East has a real chance, if not to attain supremacy, at least to divide the market and make apple growing according to the best methods a very paying business, as it is in sections even now. In the case of practically all fruit the smaller is more moderate and, developing more slowly, seems to bring a larger share of sweetness and flavor out of the air, the sun and the soil.

DO YOU DREAM MUCH?

Do you dream that you are in the midst of an exciting drama? The train is rushing toward the crossing and you are going to attempt to get by in your car before it arrives there.

Or, are you in a street encounter and about to attack someone who has insulted you? Perhaps you are about to be attacked for a similar, or even different reason.

Or, it is an open field with an enraged bull at your heels.

Maybe it is none of the above, but you are in front of an audience of a thousand or even one, and you are pouring forth your words from the very depths of your being.

Or, you may be the audience and you have been stirred as never before in your life.

You wake up and find—what? That your heart is pounding, your forehead is wet with perspiration, and you are trembling like a leaf in the wind.

Now what about it? I am not going to go into a discussion of the theory of dreams. Some of the best nerve specialists have written volumes upon the significance of dreams.

Some of their ideas seem reasonable enough, but for the most part, the medical profession is still waiting to be shown.

But from the standpoint of that body of yours, what do dreams mean? Simply that if your brain is going to be actively engaged, that your entire body will not get the relaxation necessary to health.

I know that these dreams take but a short time as minutes go, but the effort is there just the same.

So if you find that you seem to need more sleep than the other members of the family, take an account of the number and extent of your dreams. Try and prevent them.

By not eating or drinking before you retire, by trying to lie on either side instead of on the back, by rising when you wake in the morning, even if it be a half hour earlier than your usual hour. Remember a dreamless sleep is a restful sleep.

A dreamless sleep often takes a lot out of you.

NEW CLOCK AT NEW PALTZ

Judge Clearwater Speaker at Its Reception by Reformed Church From Dutch Guild.

New Paltz, Nov. 6.—Sunday was a brilliant and notable day in the history of the Reformed Dutch Church of this place. The fine old edifice was filled with the largest congregation it has held in a long time. The occasion was the reception from the Dutch Guild of the church of the new clock built by Seth Thomas Company, installed in the steeple, and an accompanying address by Judge Clearwater, who long has been interested in its installation.

After an able sermon by Dr. Ernest Clapp, the dominie of the church, and the rendition of a beautiful solo by the granddaughter of the late Jesse Kling, in his lifetime vice-president of the Holland society for New Paltz, the dominie introduced the judge, who said that his first appearance among the worshippers of the church was so to speak, vicariously. Two hundred and forty-four years four months and two days ago, on Sunday, his remote ancestor was brought to the old church at New Paltz to be baptized by the Huguenot dominie that ministered to the people, that in the ancient parchment-bound register of baptism, the child entry in French read, "Sunday, July 2nd, 1679, Jacob Clearwater and Marie his wife had a child baptized. His name is Abraham. The God-fathers were Abraham Hasbrouck and Solomon Duffell. The God-mother was Mary Duffell." My remote ancestor, Jacob Clearwater, said the judge, "whose name is given in French, was the first Dutchman to break into the close communion of Huguenots, and to carry away a Huguenot bride, but my Huguenot ancestress was determined that her first baby should be baptized by a Huguenot minister, and in a Huguenot church, and consequently Abraham when he was twelve days old, was brought here to be introduced into the true faith."

The judge said that during his childhood many times he visited his relatives, the Duffells, his ancestors, being a daughter of Peter Duffell, the partner at the old Duffell homestead, now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Frank LeFevre. These visits were made in company with his grandfather and grandmother, and father and mother, and always when rounding Bontecoe corner he eagerly looked at a clock in the steeple to see how near dinner time it was, because unfailingly at the Duffell homestead a low dinner was awaiting them and without fail, always he received two pieces of pie, double his allowance at home. This it came to pass that the clock in the steeple of the Paltz church to him became the symbol of hospitality.

His grandfather and mother died, his visits became infrequent until the formation of the New Paltz Huguenot Memorial Society, and this, too, by one of the Jews. The society home, his duties as one of the trustees of the memorial society during the last twenty odd years, frequently brought him to New Paltz, and since the days of automobiles scarcely a week passed but that he visited the village. Long ago, he had been shocked to find that the clock was silent, that the hands no longer moved. He offered to his relatives and friends to pay one-fourth of the expense of installing a new clock, which they told him would cost about $1,000, but they had not budgeted. It was impossible to repair the old clock which had been placed in the steeple when the church was constructed in 1839 and only had discolored its duty. He had a sentimental desire to see a new one in the steeple before his career was terminated.

At last the Dutch Guild of the church, under the presidency of Miss Helen Hasbrouck, sympathetically responded and asked him if his offer still held good. He told them that it did, but it was contingent upon nine hundred dollars being raised by the people of the church. When that was paid he would give the last $100. A week ago Miss Hasbrouck informed him that the $900 had been raised, the clock had been installed, and would strike for the first time on Sunday morning, that the girls of the Dutch Guild wanted him to come down and make an address.

"Here," said the judge, as he dropped his cheque into the collection basket, "is my one hundred dollars, but it is not the money nor the clock which forms the strongest appeal to me. This church for two hundred and fifty years has been a radiant center of evangelization in the United States. From it have gone out as fine men and women as the world has known. They have carried the banner of the cross to the shores of the Tigris and Euphrates. To the darkest interior of Africa. They cultivated the highest ideals of civil and religious liberty and the loftiest views of professional and business honor. No church in this country, with the possible exception of my own, the First Dutch of Kingston, has more truly kept the faith, cultivated higher aspirations and done more effective work for Christianity than yours of New Paltz. It is an honor and glory to have ancestors who worshipped, who were baptized, and whose lives have been an incentive to the cultivation of the ideals which were inspired here."

LEGION AN AID TO FARMERS

Employment Bureau Operated in South Dakota Supplied Men During Harvest Season.

An American Legion employment bureau, operated in South Dakota during the harvest season, is regarded as having been one of the most effective checks in the spread of "I. W. W."-ism in the North and West. Through the services of the Legion's bureau hundreds of men known to be of non-radical tendencies were sent to the farmers of the Dakotas to obtain work, the radical type staying away from the Legion's employment agents.

The bureau was instituted by the Sidney E. Smith post of the Legion at Aberdeen, S. D. Service was rendered for a period of eight weeks, during which time the Legion placed 750 men of 1,100 registering, without cost. In some instances these men were sent 200 miles from the agency to a farmer who had turned to the Legion to obtain reliable help in harvesting his big crops.

But service did not stop with jobs alone. Many of the men arrived at the Legion tents, "broke," hungry and dirty. The Legion men provided 800 men with meals, gave lodging to 400 men, and arranged for a large number to receive free shower baths. Odd jobs were found for a large number to fill in until farm employment would be obtained.

Local police regarded a slip from the American Legion employment bureau as sufficient evidence that the man was all right, but those who did not have the Legion cards were usually told to move on. The project was given endorsement of federal, state and municipal authorities.

THOUSANDS IN BIG CONTEST

Many School Children Trying for American Legion's Americanism Prize Essay Cash.

Four hundred thousand American school children are participating in the American Legion's national essay contest on "Why America Should Prohibit Immigration for Five Years," according to a recent announcement of the Legion's national Americanism commission. Prizes amounting to $1,500, and medals for winning contestants of each state are offered.

The contest is open to all boys and girls between the ages of twelve and eighteen years; only one essay may be submitted by a contestant, and essays must be limited to 500 words each. Prize winners must use the money for scholarships in colleges of their own selection. First prize is $750, second $500, and third, $250. In addition to the cash prizes the best paper in each state will be awarded a silver medal, the second best paper a bronze medal, and the third a certificate of merit from the national office of the Legion.

The contest will be held through the counties and states. The three best essays in the states will be forwarded to the office of the national Americanism commission of the Legion, where they will be judged for national honors.

"To promote interest in patriotism among the younger generation and to foster education," is the announced purpose of the contest.

To Aid in Conserving Forests.

The American Legion will assist in the conservation of the giant redwood forests of California from threats by lumbermen and destruction by fire. Recent action by the organization provides for co-operation with other agencies seeking to save the forest monarchs. If any preserve or park is created, it has been suggested to the Legion that it be named in honor of Joyce Kilmer, poet-soldier of the A. E. F., who died in France.

FIGHTING FOR LEGION BILL

Congressman A. Platt Andrew, Former Lieutenant-Colonel, One of Leaders for Compensation.

Congressman A. Platt Andrew of Gloucester, Mass., will be one of the leaders in the American Legion's campaign to obtain the passage by congress of an adjusted compensation bill.

Educated in Harvard and Princeton universities, Congressman Andrew attained a brilliant reputation as an economist. He served as director of the mint under President Taft and before he left Washington had become an assistant secretary of the treasury. With the outbreak of the World war, he became interested in the allied cause, raised a fleet of automobile ambulances and took it to the Belgian front. He drove a car for three months, making trips to the front every night. The constant appeal Congressman Andrew made to Americans for establishment of ambulance sections resulted in the creation of the American Field Service with headquarters at Neuilly. Congressman Andrew was named in charge of the organization.

When Americans left the ambulance service to join the army, Andrew formed a number of "companion sections" to deliver ammunition. Entering the army, he received the rank of lieutenant-colonel.

Named as first commander of the Gloucester post of the American Legion, Andrew obtained permission of the city government to utilize the old town hall for a Legion home, and made it a museum of the great war. He led a movement to commemorate the war dead of Gloucester with a Joan of Arc monument, which is unique in that the base is formed of stones taken from every building in France sacred to the memory of the patriotic girl. He also served as first vice commander of the Massachusetts department in 1919-1920.

Congressman Andrew has been of vital assistance to the Legion in its fight for compensation. In defense of this measure he has said:

"The measure before the house offers to our veterans not only a just and fair, if long overdue reward, but also a reward that has been framed upon the principles of helping the beneficiaries to help themselves, which is the guiding principle of all intelligent and humane legislation."

LEGION IS AFTER PROMOTERS

Georgia Organization Now Boasts Commission to Put Lid on Fake Bouts.

Boxing and wrestling promoters who have been using the name of the American Legion posts to gain attendance for "sandy" meets and bouts, will be at a disadvantage in Georgia, because of the establishment of a Legion boxing commission.

Unscrupulous promoters often induce the Legion men to stage a bout under their auspices, fighters failing to show up, or promoters milking the public of their money by fake bouts, leaving the Legion men to face deficits and an unenviable reputation in the community.

At the last department convention of the Legion, a commission was authorized to supervise all bouts held by the Legion posts in the state. This body, composed of three Legionnaires, will operate on plans similar to those established by laws in various states.

A registry fee will be charged to each boxer participating and a license exacted for each show. Boxing promoters will be required to pay annually a fee several times that charged the fighters. A representative of the commission will be present at every bout sponsored by the Legion to adjudicate contests among posts, promoters and fighters.

Oh, Those Women.

He had just returned from the prize fight and was all excited over it. "It was a great scrap, Mary," he said to his wife, "and Red Mike took the count."

"Yes," she inquired disinterestedly. "And where did he take him?" And as he gazed at her in amazement, she added:

"And what became of the countess?" Then, striking man that he was, he swooned.—American Legion Weekly.

FATHER OF THE VAUDEVILLE

Farmer's Son Invented Name to Replace "Variety Show." Also the Continuous Performance.

In the early 1880's variety entertainment in America was a pariah of the arts. Respectable women were seldom seen in the audience, and we fear seldom on the stage. Even in the East the performer's life was a precarious one: he worked where he could, dressed in dirty holes, and the farther west he went the worse conditions became. The western honkey-tonks were combination dance halls, saloons and variety theaters, frequented by drunken cowboys, miners and loose women. A respectable actor would no more have considered going into the varieties than he would have considered becoming a burglar.

Such was the condition even in Boston when, in 1883, Benjamin Franklin Keith, a farmer's son from Hillsboro, Mass., who had drifted into the circus business, arrived in Boston with a few dollars in his pocket and decided to become a showman on his own hook, says Walter Pritchard Eaton in McClure's Magazine. He rented a vacant store for which he paid $1 a day, got a pall and wop and scrubbed it with his own hands, and then opened it as a "museum" with Baby Alice, weight one and one-half pounds, and a Barnum mermaid, as attractions. He prospered in a small way, took a man named Batchelder in as silent partner, added a second room with a stage, on which performances could be given.

In 1884 Keith christened his performances "vaudeville" to get away from the stigma attached to "variety show," and made every effort to keep his little museum clean and decent. In 1885 he originated the idea of a continuous performance, from ten to tea, in order to get more people.

EUROPE FARMS LACK PHONES

Rural Wire Service in Its Infancy in the Old World, Says French Engineer.

"Rural telephone service is in its infancy in the large European countries such as England and France," writes Monsieur M. G. Valensi, noted French telegraph engineer, in a recent article in the Annales des Postes, Telegraphes et Telephones.

One-third of the French telephone subscribers are concentrated in Paris, the writer points out. It is the same for London, which in 1921 contained 350,000 subscribers, while Great Britain as a whole possessed only 985,964.

In contrast to this situation, M. Valensi points out that in the United States "more than 2,500,000 farms possess the telephone. In that country," he adds, "there exist almost 26,000 small rural co-operative telephone companies, made up of farmers who combine to construct a line leading to a point connecting with a telephone central."

Not the Course.

A good many years ago a steamer was sailing down a certain river, with a shrewd old Yankee captain in command. Suddenly the engines stopped, and the steamer remained motionless for several minutes. The passengers began to talk among themselves, and one of them, a portly, pompous person, advanced to the captain.

"What seems to be the trouble, captain?" he inquired. "Why have we stopped?"

"Too much fog," answered the captain curtly. "But I can see the stars overhead quite plainly," argued the persistent individual.

"Maybe ye can," admitted the captain grimly. "But unless the billers bust, we ain't goin' that way!"

Curing His Golf Trouble.

The following conversation took place between an old Scotch professional and a would-be golfer. The amateur had asked what the other thought of his game.

"Na, ye'll no mak' a golfer," he said; "ye've begun over late. But it's jus' possible if ye practice hard, verra hard, for twa-three years, ye might."

"Yes?" inquired the other expectantly.

"Ye might begin to hae a glimmer that ye'll never ken the rudiments o' the game."—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Some Time Hence.

Composer—I hope you like my new opera?

Critic—Oh, it's good enough in its way, and I dare say it will be performed after the works of Haydn, Mozart, Beethoven and Meyerbeer are forgotten.

Composer (delightedly)—Really?

Critic—Yes! But not till then.—Pearson's Weekly.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

IN ZOO LAND

"There has been one zoo," said Daddy, "where they have been able to raise a polar bear cub successfully, for usually polar bear cubs do not care for zoos."

"It is different with big polar bears, but the little polar bears have not found that zoo life agreed with them, but this polar bear found it was different and that zoo life agreed with him perfectly from the time he was a baby cub in the zoo until he became quite good."

He was pleased about it that he thought he could sing a polar bear song, and he was his song:

"I'm the Bear so bold
Who loves the weather when it's cold.
I wear a white suit which looks like the snow,
And I'll tell you, too, I'm a dangerous foe."

But oh, how I love a cake of ice,
With it I'm really and truly nice!
I'm a bear that has grown from a tiny bear,
And this is a great event for this zoo,
Where they have raised me since the day I was born
And have cared for me ever since that morn."

My mother, of course, was a great,
great help.
She understood my every whelp.
But this is the first zoo to have raised a cub
And they have called me the prize bear cub."

"Yes," continued Daddy, "it was a very wonderful event and the zoo people were very proud of it. They didn't want to boast of it until the bear was big enough to really be sure of growing up into strength and full polar bear size."

"Some of the animals were telling the visitors who they were by roaring and talking in their different ways, and though the visitors could not understand them, the animals did their best to be understood."

"If they want to know Who's Who in Zooland," said the Polar Bear,
"they can find out a good deal from looking at us. And our keepers will tell them many things about us."

"Now, in that outside cage, over some distance, Mr. and Mrs. Eneu

"Oh, I Love a Cake of Ice."

are telling their friends and those who they are seeing for the first time about themselves."

"And," said Daddy, "it was true.
Mr. and Mrs. Eneu were talking about in their yard, and were grunting and snorting their little piece about themselves."

This is what it was when translated into words:

"I am Mrs. Eneu, and I'll have you know
That I keep Mr. Eneu well on the go,
For he brings up the children and I make him work,
While every duty of mine I shirk.
We have legs like long stilts, and bodies like hay,
And except when it's spring I'm pleasant and gay."

"And Mr. Eneu said:

"Every word that she says is true.
This is what she makes me do.
She never, never will let me shirk.
She sees that I keep at my work.
She makes me bring up the children well."

And only when she's herself a cross spell,
It's true, as she says, that she's cross in the spring.
But at other times she's a pleasant, nice thing."

She doesn't mind if I call her a thing.
For she knows that I'm willing her praises to sing.
I like her, and that's enough for me,
And though she's strange, she and I agree."

I'm willing enough to do all the work,
I don't really care to shirk.
And if she's queer with each leg like a stilt,
I am the very same way, you see, built,
And we both have bodies that look like hay."

And most of the time we're happy and gay,
Yes, she tells you the truth in her song,
And I say the same, ding-dong, dingdong."

"So," Daddy ended, "these animals and their keepers told the people their names and their histories, and I've put into words you could understand just what it was they said, for the keepers and those who study animals understand animal language and will translate it for people!"

Don't Cry, Bruvver.

Little Ned had been to the circus with sister and Daddy, and the most valued part of it was a big red toy balloon which his father bought him.
On the way home it broke away, and went sailing off through the air. Little sister, seeing him in tears, said:
"Never mind, Neddy, when you die and go to heaven, you'll get it."

Value of Knowledge.

"De value of knowledge," said Uncle Eben, "depends on how you use it. I knows a man dat has read de Bible through five times, but all he seems to get f'm it is sumpin' to argue about."

Fruit of the wave! Oh, dainty and delicious!

THE SEASON'S GOOD THINGS

The oyster is now in the market, and those who are fond of the tender little morsels will enjoy some different ways of serving them.

Oysters With Macaroni.—Cook three-quarters of a cupful of macaroni until tender, broken into one-inch pieces. Sauté and put a layer of the macaroni into a well-buttered baking dish; cover with one pint of oysters, dredge with flour, salt and pepper and dot with two tablespoonfuls of butter. Repeat and finish the top of the dish with buttered crumbs. A half-cupful of milk or thin cream may be added if the dish does not seem moist enough. Bake twenty minutes in a hot oven, or long enough to cook the oysters.

Cheese Pudding.—This makes a most nourishing luncheon or supper dish.
Take slices of stale bread, cut into finger-shaped pieces and spread with butter. Arrange around the sides of a buttered baking dish, having the strips reach an inch above the dish, and line the bottom with the strips of bread.
Beat two eggs until broken; add one cupful of thin cream or rich milk, one tablespoonful of butter, one teaspoonful of salt, one-half teaspoonful of mustard, a few dashes of cayenne and one-half pound of mild cheese cut into small pieces. Pour the mixture into the dish very carefully, not to displace the bread around the edges, and bake until the custard is set. Be careful not to bake in too hot an oven, or the cheese will be stringy and hard to digest.

Indian Tapioca Pudding.—Soak five tablespoonfuls of pearl tapioca two hours in cold water. Pour four cupfuls of scalded milk over four tablespoonfuls of cornmeal, cook in a double boiler until the mixture thick-ens. Add the tapioca drained and three-fourths of a cupful of molasses, three tablespoonfuls of butter and one-and one-half teaspoonfuls of salt.
Turn into a buttered dish and cover with one cupful of cold milk. Do not stir. Bake one and one-fourth hours in a moderate oven.

SCOUTS CAP WEEK WITH PARADE

All Boys Over 13 Invited To March With Scouts on Saturday Afternoon.

The men behind the Boy Scout Drive for $12,000 are finding that the men of influence in Kingston and Ulster county are greatly interested and particularly from the standpoint of making this effort a great popular movement with every person in the community sharing in its support. Not only do they feel that every one should support it but they say "It is a movement which better law abiding citizens as evidenced by the statements of judges and city and county officials—it gives us boys who have a proper respect for property of others as evidenced by statements of manufacturers and merchants, it gives us better Sunday schools by increasing attendance, it gives us better students in schools by Scouts carrying good grades and it gives us better sons at home by greater consideration and thoughtfulness for father, mother, brothers and sisters."

Carlton Preston, chairman of the demonstration committee together with Ed. Lester, chairman of the publicity committee, have assembled pole and other material, including a plastic bed built and used by the Boy Scouts in camp last summer, all of which is to be used in the Scoutcraft yard at the corner of Hoffman street and Broadway.

Saturday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock the Scouts will parade in Kingston. Troops from all over the county will be here to participate.

All boys, not Scouts, 12 years and over are invited to come out and parade also. There will be a band. Watch the papers for the place where the parade will form up.

Dr. W. J. Cranston is to be marshal and Carlton Preston adjutant.

The following endorsement of the Scout movement has been received from Dr. Frederick Snyder.

"The Boy Scout movement not only has the endorsement, but will receive enthusiastic co-operative aid, of every medical man. The Scouts' creed, aspirations and out-door training will develop a healthful moral and physical manhood, with sound bodies and sound minds that will be an asset and strength to the nation."

"The virile citizenship of a Roosevelt, achieved in spite of early physical handicap, the intellectual charm and genius of a Burroughs, attest the end results of this wholesome creed. May the Boy Scouts grow rapidly to manhood, when they will, by the law of fitness, assume their places as chiefs in the realms of industry, literature, art and statesmanship, as well as the nation's strongest defense when her liberties are in peril."

Wanted a Change.

Watkins came in from the office and tossed his hat over on the table.

"Hello, Mary," he called.

Mary came from the kitchen to give him her weekly kiss of greeting.

"Here, dearie, I brought you a box of candy tonight," Watkins announced.

Mary was nonplussed for a moment.

"Why, Jimmie, this isn't our wedding anniversary!" she exclaimed.

"And it isn't my birthday—and it isn't— Oh, Jim, you're courting me again!"

"Nope," Jim denied casually. "I just thought a little something sweet would taste good!"

Billiard Balls From Beans.

Billiard balls at present being grown at the Royal Botanic gardens, in England, are the most recently discovered use of the soya bean, whose natural home is in the Far East. But billiard balls are not the only uses to which the soya can be put. It can be utilized as: A substitute for knife and umbrella handles, buckles and beads. As an ingredient of cheese, flour, table oil, cake, sauce and soap. In making lubricating and illuminating oil, glycerin, paint, varnish, celluloid, printing ink, waterproofs, explosives and linoleum.

Discovered.

Little Bobby, who had been playing with a neighbor's daughter, came sobbing to his mother and declared that his little playmate had pulled his hair.

"Why, Bobby," his mother gasped.

"I thought she was such a nice little girl she would never do anything like that."

"So did I," wailed Bobby.

"That's why I kicked her."—Los Angeles Times.

Queer Uses for Coal.

Coal has been found to have many unexpected uses. Cheap white celluloid combs and fasteners, decorated with insets of "black diamonds," have a great fascination for the dusky beauties of the Congo, where they are used by traders for the exchange of goods with the natives. A shovelful of coal dust is a familiar sight in many pigsties. The coal grit is a valuable aid to digestion and reduces food costs. Miners do a profitable business in carving coal signet rings and ornaments, the finished article having the appearance of ebony; they are popular as souvenirs of mining regions.

Laughter Caused Death.

The metaphor, "dying of laughter," was translated into real fact in the case of an elderly man in Philadelphia, who was so tickled at the droilery of a movie comedian that he was unable to control his laughter and suddenly collapsed, dying in the arms of a woman sitting beside him. Physicians said that the victim's heart had been ruptured.

Citron's Remarkable Vitality.

A citron that she raised in 1921 was kept in the dining room of a St. Johnsbury (Vt.) woman. Wanting some seeds to start some plants in window boxes recently, she cut the citron open and found that part of the seeds had sprouted, one of the sprouts being nearly three inches long. The citron appeared to be in perfect condition.

ROBBERY THEORY INGRAHAM KILLING

The murder of Patrick Graham at Marlborough last week still remains a mystery. The authorities spent the day Monday in the vicinity questioning persons who might shed some light upon the last few hours of the man's life but no one has been able to tell what became of Graham after he was noticed in the village on Thursday morning. About noon time he was about the village and made a purchase of some crackers at the village store but from noon time it has been impossible to trace his actions. Where he went and how he came to be in the swamp where the body was found and what his condition was just prior to his death remains a mystery.

Graham's sister, who resides in Yonkers, was at Marlborough but was unable to give any information. Graham left home some 26 years ago and has rarely visited at her home in Yonkers.

Whether Graham had any money upon his person when he disappeared could not be learned although one person questioned stated that some time ago Graham was known to have a considerable sum of money and had tendered a $20 bill for payment of a purchase in the village.

The authorities spent the day interviewing persons who might know something of the life and habits of the man but this was a difficult task as Graham was known as a quiet man who associated with few people and usually kept aloof from others.

Inquiry at banks where Graham might have had an account failed to throw any light upon the matter as at each inquiry the same answer was received, no account was kept in Graham's name. The authorities are still working on the theory that the motive was robbery.

Below: Lieut. Alford J. Williams.

Lieutenant Alford J. Williams, U. S. N., and Lieutenant Harold J. Brow, U. S. N., have travelled faster than any other mortal men. In official speed tests over a three-kilometer course at Mitchell Field, Long Island, Lieutenant Williams, a former New York Giant pitcher, averaged 263.3 miles an hour. Then Brow went up and came down with a new world's record of 264.69 miles an hour. Peeved-like, Williams nose dived down from 5,000 feet at a speed of approximately 350 miles an hour, flattened his machine out so as to fly on a level plane across the course and averaged 266.6 miles an hour—the fastest a man has ever moved. At one time Brow was clocked at 272.2 miles an hour, but his average was lower. If Williams's speed of 4.44 miles per minute could have been maintained he could have flown from New York to San Francisco in 11 hours and 55 minutes.

Bees Do Queer Things.

An automobile collision threw one of the vehicles and its occupants over a bank into a hive of bees. The latter not only prevented rescue work but attacked the injured persons who were held helpless in the wreckage. A swarm of bees caused a hold-up in St. James' road, Kingston-on-Thames, England. Thousands of bees in a big cluster hung from the branch of a tree at a height level with the faces of passers-by, and a policeman mounted guard. Finally two local bee-keepers were found and they hived the swarm.

English Influence.

One day an old Kurdish chief, with a heavily armed escort, rode into the grounds of the British legation in Teheran, Persia. He had a little grandson with him, a richly dressed boy of about nine who, in addition to a dagger and sword, had a couple of the most up-to-date revolvers stuck in his belt. The old chief wanted to send his grandson to Harrow school in England. The matter was discussed through an interpreter, and after countless complaints and expressions of thanks, the wild-looking horsemen, with the old chief and the boy at their head, rode away.

ROGER HORNSBY MAY BECOME N. Y. GIANT.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, Nov. 6.—Rumors that Roger Hornsby, leading batter of the National League, would be traded to the New York Giants, were revived here when it was learned that Branch Rickey, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, was en route east. Hornsby is said to be on the market as a result of his altercation with Rickey at the Polo Grounds after one of the Giant-Cardinals games last summer.

John McGraw, manager of the Giants, once offered $250,000 for Hornsby's release and an additional $50,000 in the event that the Giants won the pennant that year. Recently, however, he was quoted as saying that Hornsby's value had been depreciated by circumstances and the fact that the player was no longer young.

LAWRENCE SEELEY LOCATES HIMSELF

He is a Recently Arrived Young Man Who Reads The Freeman and Is Pastor of The Free Methodist Church.

The Freeman again is able to demonstrate that "advertising pays" when it is done in the columns of The Freeman.

The proof is furnished by the inquiry made in the news columns of The Freeman Monday night, "Who is Lawrence Seeley?" and the answer is promptly furnished by that gentleman himself. He is the Rev. Lawrence E. Seeley and he recently has become pastor of the Free Methodist Church, located on Tremper avenue, near O'Neil street.

The Rev. Lawrence E. Seeley's name does not appear either in the city directory or the New York Telephone Company's directory. Inquiry around town on Monday failed to disclose who he was or where he lived. But the Rev. Lawrence E. Seeley evidently reads The Freeman, and at the earliest opportunity he answered the question through the Kingston Leader this morning. It was the Rev. Lawrence E. Seeley who signed the endorsement of Holt N. Winfield for assemblyman.

Unless the experience of other people of the same name who are engaged in a similar occupation is completely reversed, life will become more interesting both to the Rev. Dr. Frank B. Seeley and the Rev. Lawrence E. Seeley as soon as the latter is listed in the next issue of the city directory and the telephone directory. The Rev. Lawrence E. Seeley resides at No. 151½ Elmendorf street. He succeeded the Rev. F. J. Dunham as pastor. He is a young man and has been a resident of this city for several weeks, coming here from Cheshbrough Seminary.

CURRENT OFFERINGS

AT THE THEATERS

The Charles K. Champlin Stock Company opened a week's engagement at the Opera House Monday night, presenting the melodrama "It Is the Law" to a well filled house. "The Love Child," now running at the Majestic Theater in New York, is the attraction tonight at popular prices. Mr. Champlin announces that his line of plays for this engagement is superior to any he has brought to Kingston in his annual visits and the production Monday night might easily substantiate this statement since it was excellent as to artistry, costumes and scenic background.

"Moussu Vanna," Maderlinck's virile love drama, will be at Keeney's for the last times tonight. It is a melodramatic spectacle with elaborate sets and tremendous mob scenes, exceptional photography and beautiful romance, as incidents to the finely acted story which takes two hours to run off.

At Keeney's Wednesday will be "The Scarlet Lily," starring Katharine Mardonald, a virile portrayal of the power of the press and an interest compelling drama. At the Auditorium today, Lon Chaney in "The Blind Bargain," Lon Chaney in two powerful roles offers the most superbly thrilling dramatic acting of his career. Also the 11th episode of "Plunder." Do you love your job—would an increase in salary make a bit with you—are you tired of the steady grind—would you like to lift yourself to a position of affluence? See "Daytime Wives" at the Ophtheum Theatre in conjunction with an exceptional vaudeville bill, featuring Cora Payton and Company in "Just Married."

LEGION PLANS TO AID POLES

Organization Will Endeavor to Have Naturalization Requirements Amended in Their Favor.

The assistance of the American Legion has been asked for a group of American-born men who seek easing of naturalization laws because of war service in the Polish army.

"Italian's Army," a contingent of American Poles, fought at the side of allied troops all through the war. Their service caused them to lose rights as American citizens, and in order to obtain citizenship they must pass through the same formalities as would an alien seeking naturalization.

The veterans base their plea for the Legion's aid on the fact that they served with allied troops and should be entitled to naturalization by display of an honorable discharge and testimony of witnesses to their service. Others in this army were citizens of Poland, then subjugated by the enemy, and were classed as enemy aliens, although they fought with the allies. Efforts will be made to reduce naturalization requirements for these men, as well as those who were previously citizens of the United States.

HOW ABOUT THE HUSBANDS?

Writer Animadverts on Mrs. Belmont's Remarks on Slavery of Married Life.

Marriage, says Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, is a sort of slavery, and for that reason she would hesitate to recommend marriage to any girl. Why, not for the same reason hesitate to recommend marriage to any man? There are millions of average men in the world who are just about able to make ends meet, observes the Detroit Free Press. They are conscientious persons feeling the usual affection for their families and having a strong regard for the obligations which they assumed when they married and became fathers.

The result of these birding ties is that they work on year after year, paying the family bills, pinching a little sometimes off for life insurance, laying away to meet the cost of educating their offspring, struggling to get ahead to buy a home, and at the end of the first 25 or 30 years of married life they frequently find themselves just about where they started in a financial way, and beyond their prime physically. They have, in a sense, been the slaves of marriage quite as much as their better halves, but it has not been observed that the outlook for hard work and small returns ever discourages the youth of either sex when marrying time comes. They seem to think the game is worth the candle and something over. Perhaps, notwithstanding Mrs. Belmont's doubts, they are right about it.

ROMANS USED SHORTHAND

Quintus Ennius Devised a System of Abbreviated Writing Two Centuries Before Christ.

Although shorthand is so widely used today, probably few people realize that, in a different form, it was popular in the days of ancient Rome.

The first mention of an abbreviated system of writing is made in connection with the Roman poet Quintus Ennius, 200 B. C., who devised a scheme of 1,100 signs for his own use. Then we have Plutarch's statement that Cicero's famous oration in the Roman senate, in 63 B. C., was reported in shorthand.

References to shorthand were made in the works of Cicero, Horace and Pliny, and the poet Ovid bears testimony to the fact that by means of these characters Caesar's political secrets were borne far over land and sea. Evidence goes to show that a sermon on the Mount was reported in shorthand by St. Luke.

The writing was scratched onto tablets covered with a layer of wax. The tablets were afterward fastened together at the corners by wire, thus forming a sort of book.

Indian Canoe in Italy.
The American Indian canoe, which for centuries has plied only the streams and lakes of the North American continent, has at last found its way to the classic "yellow Tiber." Canoeing has become a favorite river sport of the Romans. On Sunday a dozen or more of the frail Indian craft can be seen in the yellow waters gliding along the shores in company with skiffs, shells, sculls and motorboats. The graceful Indian water conveyance has become so popular that an Italian firm has commenced the manufacture of them. They took several American canoes as models and then began turning them out by the scores. A canoe club also has been organized and many Americans have joined. Paddling to the perfection of the Indians has not yet been achieved. The Romans make vain effort to keep the canoe headed straight, but a change of paddles is necessary after every few strokes.

Strange Town of Midgets.
A curious little town, in a pretty rural section of Germany not far from Berlin, has a population of 70 adults and a number of children, the entire population being made up of Lilliputians. The houses, shops and theaters are on such a diminutive scale that a person of average size would have difficulty in entering.

They have a tiny fire department with hose wagon, hook and ladder and a steam engine drawn by Shetland ponies. The policemen are scarcely larger than big dolls, and the postmistress, though sixty years old, is about the size of an eight-year-old child. Some of these little people earn a livelihood by circus and stage exhibitions, but most of them are stay-at-homes, and excel in toy making.

Ground Isn't the Limit.
A gentleman who considered sweeping grounds unsanitary for street use was having a tilt with a designer. "Gowns," growled he, "are now touching the sidewalk. I suppose you have reached the limit and are satisfied."

"I'm satisfied," stated the designer, "but we have never reached the limit in long gowns."

"Huh!"

Maybe It Was a Stand-Off.
A country lad went to New York and tried to secure a job on the police force. He passed the physical tests, but the written examination gave him a little trouble. One question was: "A man buys an article for $12.25 and sells it for $9.75; does he gain or lose on the transaction?"

After pondering over the question our rural friend answered: "He gains on the cents, but loses on the dollars."

PLAN TO HARNESS VESUVIUS

Italy Would Direct Flow of Lava and Utilize Heat of the Big Volcano.

In the future great volcanoes can throw out molten fire and lava and attract no more attention than the passing of a motor car, if plans now being considered by scientists of Italy are carried out.

After the gigantic accomplishments of the engineers in the World War such a scheme does not sound impossible and plans are being seriously considered to tunnel mountains known to be dangerous in such a manner that a sudden volcanic activity will only result in the gas and lava being carried away from settled sections and valuable property.

Especially are such plans being worked out for Etna and Vesuvius, the two most destructive volcanoes.

And with the plan goes another providing for harnessing the heat for industrial purposes.

Premier Mussolini has been investigating the plan and now, it is said, no obstacle remains except the expense. It is hoped that some way may be found whereby Italy will be relieved from dependence upon the outside world for fuel and the power that fuel produces.

If experimental boring is tried it will probably be on Etna, because that volcano, being on an island, can do less damage than Vesuvius if stirred to unusual activity by man's efforts.

Cutting tunnels through the mountainside would be simple in its earlier stages, and would become complicated only when the heat, on approach to the eternal fires, became unendurable to the workers. Explosives might do the rest.

SWEETS FOR THE CHILDREN

Moderate Allowances of Sugar, Candy and Ice Cream That Keeps Them Healthy.

The following may be regarded as a moderate allowance of sugar or candy for a healthy child of nine or ten years: Of sugar on cereals, one even teaspoonful at breakfast or supper and not more than this amount on fresh or stewed fruit; of candy, one piece with the midday meal; of ice cream or fruit leas, one good tablespoonful once a week, possibly twice a week in summer; of ice cream sodas, not more than one a week.

Besides these things a child will get in his other food, such as gingerbread cookies and plain cake, and in his custard and puddings an additional amount of sugar, so that his total daily allowance will probably be equal to two tablespoonfuls of sugar. So long as this is not exceeded it is not likely that any bad effect will follow. But when a child is allowed to help himself the constant tendency is that the amount is gradually increased to two or three times the quantities specified, and even then the child is no better satisfied—often less so. He has acquired the sweet habit and food does not taste sweet unless these larger amounts are constantly added.—Dr. L. Emmett Holt in the Delinquent.

Chapels in Hotels.
Many years ago, a group of commercial travelers called "The Gideons" organized a movement for placing copies of the Scriptures in the guest rooms of hotels. It was from the start a very real missionary enterprise, and has been productive of excellent results.

One of New York's leading hotel men, the owner of a number of big establishments, announced a few days ago his purpose of going even a step further. Observation during many years of experience has impressed him with the fact that strangers who put up at hotels in our big cities are at a disadvantage as far as church-going is concerned. He has, therefore, decided to erect, in each of his large establishments, a chapel as a place where his guests may worship. "If the patron will not go to church," he urges, "we shall bring the church to him."

All Is Vanity.
"Now, just as I was beginning to think that I could become a raving beauty by spreading clay on my face once or twice a week, here comes a writer in a magazine who says the claims for it are absurd, and it does no good at all to the skin," said a Columbus beauty who likes to keep up with all the fads for improvement. "Oh, well," said her companion, "there is one comfort: You can save the money you have been spending on clay and buy face creams."—Columbus Dispatch.

A Trusting Nature.
She was a countrywoman, and traveling by train was something new to her. She sat down, on a seat in the station, and after waiting for two hours was approached by the stationmaster, who inquired where she was going.

"But the train's just gone," he said when she told him.

"Dear, dear! I thought the whole consarn moved," replied the old woman.

Handy Man.
An inmate of a certain penal institution recently received a call from the warden, who said: "I understand you got in jail on account of a glowing mining prospectus."

"Yes," admitted the gentlemanly prisoner, "I was quite optimistic."

"Well," continued the warden, "the governor wants a report on conditions in this jail. Write it."—Harper's.

The funeral of the late Rev. Dr. Platt N. Chase was held from his late residence, No. 15 Green street, and from the St. James Methodist Episcopal Church on Monday afternoon. The service at the church was largely attended and was impressive. At the home of Dr. Chase prayer was offered by the Rev. Robert A. Greenwell, pastor of the Clinton Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church, and Mrs. Hayes sang very feelingly. "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere."

Fifty clergymen were present at the church service, the representation being particularly large from the Methodist clergy of the Kingston district. There was also a large attendance of the members of the East Kingston Methodist Episcopal Church, whose pulpit for several years has been supplied by Dr. Chase, and organizations with which he was affiliated. Services at the church were conducted by the Rev. George W. Grinton, district superintendent. The Scripture was read by the Rev. F. W. Moot, representing the Kingston Ministerial Association, and the Rev. Thomas Bond, of the Five Point Mission, New York city, the Rev. J. Wilbur Tetley, of St. James's Church, made the prayer. Albert Deyo, who is a student at the New Brunswick Theological Seminary at New Brunswick, N. J., and the Rev. Grant E. Robinson, pastor of the Delhi Methodist Episcopal Church, made brief addresses. Both were known as Dr. Chase's "boys," and both spoke effectively of the kindness and consideration shown to them by Dr. Chase. Edward A. Smiley, of Ellenville, representing the county temperance organization, also spoke briefly of the work which Dr. Chase had performed in that field. The Rev. Dr. Grinton spoke of the high character and work of Dr. Chase and paid an eloquent tribute to him. The closing prayer was offered by the Rev. Robert A. Greenwell. The casket and pulpit were banked with floral tributes and when the casket was borne from the church at the conclusion of the service, the Kingston district clergy, who were seated together, formed in line and preceded the casket to the hearse. Members of the local W. C. T. U. attended the service in a body. The bearers were Cornelius Wiltvern, William Pratt and Charles Saunders, of the East Kingston congregation; the Rev. Robert A. Greenwell, of the Clinton Avenue Church, and the Rev. W. H. Moser, of Trinity Church, representing the clergy, and Leslie Herring of Esopus, representing the Citizens' League, of which Dr. Chase was one of the organizers and secretary at the time of his death. The funeral cortege was very large and at the interment in Wiltwyck Cemetery the committal service was conducted by the Rev. Dr. Grinton.

CUSTER'S ORDERLY IS BURIED AT PONTIAC, MICH.

His Daughter, of Bearsville, at Mr. Dewey's Funeral.

Mrs. Clowry Chapman of Bearsville has just returned from Kansas City, Mo. and Pontiac, Mich., in company with Mr. Chapman, where funeral services were held for her father, William H. Dewey.

As a member of the old Fifteenth New York Volunteer Cavalry, Mr. Dewey became Custer's orderly in the Shenandoah, and as such carried messages to Grant and many of the leading officers of the Union army.

Once when Mr. Dewey was wounded, Lincoln visited the military hospital, and passing to each of his comrades, clasped their hands and cheered them on by his encouragement.

At the close of the war, Mr. Dewey, then in his early twenties, went across the plains in those covered wagon days, and assisted in building the Upper Pacific, which, with Central Pacific, formed the first railroad from the Mississippi to the frontier west.

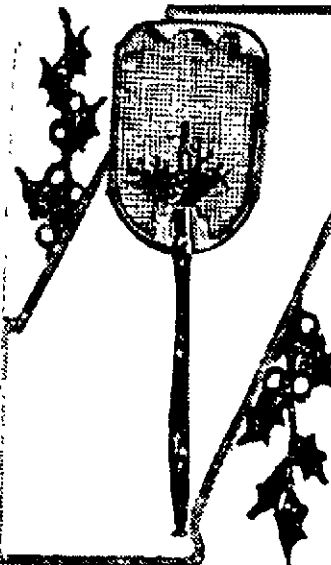

Six generations before, in the year 1680, Thomas Dewey had been one of the early settlers of Boston, Mrs. Gideon Dewey, a soldier in the Revolutionary War in the company of Captain Sackett. William H. Dewey's Ruth Chapman, survive him.

grandfather was a half brother to the grandfather of Admiral George Dewey, so that it will be seen how far reaching has been the Americanism and the patriotic service of this family.

In recent years Mr. Dewey was the leader of the survivors of Custer's regiment. Mr. Dewey's active business life was given over chiefly to the hotel, resort and catering business. In the eighties, he owned the catering establishment at the corner of Woodward avenue and Adams street, in the heart of downtown Detroit, opposite Grand Circus Park, where now the principal hotels are.

Mr. Dewey owned Silver Heels and many another fleet footed horse, taking an altogether manly and active interest in life. He now lies in the same cemetery at Pontiac, Mich., as the secretary of President Taft, when governor of the Philippines, and near other distinguished Americans. Mr. Dewey's funeral services were conducted by the Grand Army of the Republic, assisted by clergymen of the Methodist Episcopal Church. He was seventy-nine years old, having been born at Canadaigua, N. Y., October 9, 1844. He was married to Frances A. Going of Pontiac, Mich., in 1871, who, with his only children, Mrs. John A. Parkinson of Kansas City, Mo., and Mrs. Clowry Chapman of Bearsville, and his only grandchild, Ruth Chapman, survive him.

LAST RECEPTION OF REV. SCHMIDTKONZ

Kingston Clergymen Unite With Congregation in Paying Tribute to the 35 Years of Service at Spring Street Lutheran Church—$1,000 in Gifts.

The school hall of the Spring Street Lutheran Church was filled to overflowing, so that many were obliged to stand for a time, on Monday evening, the occasion being the last reception in honor of Pastor Schmidt-konz and Mrs. Schmidt-konz. A "luncheon" was included in the evening's program, long tables were prettily set with masses of chrysanthemums, carnations and roses as centerpieces, the luncheon being in charge of the Ladies' Aid Society. Mrs. Kullman, chairman, had there between two and three hundred present. It was necessary to serve second tables with the delicious sandwiches, Kuchen, home made cake, cream and coffee made by the guests of honor and their family were seated, the decorations were pink roses and carnations and similar, artistically arranged. Throughout the evening Jacob Stumpf presided at the piano, accompanying both the vocal and instrumental music.

The evening's program opened with the singing by all present, of the hymn, "The Lord My Shepherd." Jacob Schantz then addressed the assembly in "Words of Welcome and Greeting." In which, in German, he expressed, on behalf of all present, the congregation, the young people, the Sunday school children, their appreciation of the thirty-five years of splendid Christian service rendered by Pastor Schmidt-konz, bespoke the deep affection in which he and Mrs. Schmidt-konz were held; extended welcome and greetings to all, in particular the visiting clergy; and then in sincere sadness bade all that it was an occasion most regrettable farewell.

In responding, Pastor Schmidt-konz expressed his surprise at the size of the large gathering; his heart appreciation of the kindly spirit which prompted the occasion and the attendance. He said that he recalled greatly the surprise that had been his when he had first been called to himself for Mrs. Schmidt-konz's wedding, and he was deeply, deeply grateful for it all.

In return he would extend greetings to all present in their beautiful school hall where he had spent so many happy hours and pleasant evenings. For the speaker, it was the great occasion in that school hall, with all of his friends about him, his family, and even some dear relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Anger. When Mrs. Schmidt-konz came to the Spring Street Lutheran church, thirty-five years ago tomorrow, a partook of the ample breakfast prepared for them by the ladies of the church, it was Mrs. Anger, Mrs. Schmidt-konz's sister, who brought her children, Hannah, Lina and Herma, who had passed on to his heavenly home, to the parsonage, for there came to the parsonage more children, Louis, their son, who was now the pastor of a church in Trenton, and Miss Sophie, both of whom were now in the parsonage. But, as Pastor Schmidt-konz said, "All of us cannot choose our parents or our birth place." And then Mr. Schmidt-konz greeted his brethren of the cloth, who were present and with whom he had been so long and so happily associated.

After singing the hymn, "Thine Everlasting Love," the Rev. F. Bosch of New York, President of the Synod, pronounced the invocation and then the luncheon was served by the ladies of the Ladies' Aid Society. After the luncheon, Mr. Schantz, who had been acting as master of ceremonies, introduced the "Good-bye Secretary," the Rev. H. Lorenz of the Albany conference, who acted as an ideal toastmaster. Now, just because it was a farewell reception, no one would think that it was a lugubrious and doleful occasion, for it was the contrary, there being much of merriment and jest; lively anecdote and humorous illustration, and to the toastmaster should be given credit for keeping the spirit of the evening in "Auf Wiedersehen," rather than "Good Bye." And all of his productions were full of friendly humor and sincere regard. His first production was a song, "Sturm der Manner," sung by the Roundabout Mannerchor, and calling forth such applause as died all of the musical numbers.

Bosch said that that body had had, for forty-one years, the wise counsel, the loyal support, the forward vision of the Rev. Mr. Schmidt-konz, who had been a member of the examining board; the executive board of the Synod and was now so soon to become an ex-pastor. He was also a highly esteemed member of the Board of Directors of Wagner College, that institution so necessary to the Lutheran Church; and the educating of the youth, in the gospel of Jesus Christ. In all his years in the Synod, Bosch said the Rev. Mr. Schmidt-konz had never shirked a duty imposed upon him, but had been faithful to every trust; had responded cheerfully and readily to every call. President Bosch closed by calling down God's blessing upon the retiring pastor and his family and his congregation.

The church choir then sang most acceptably, "The Dawn of Day." The next speaker was the Rev. H. B. Dickert of Canajoharie, N. Y., president of the Albany Conference, who spoke on "Pastor Schmidt-konz and the Albany Conference." Dr. Dickert was especially happy in his remarks, giving voice to the sentiment that such events are rare in the history of men, for few can boast of having had a good pastor for so many years; and few pastors can boast of having had the loyal support and cooperation and affection of their congregation for so long. The speaker thought that the pleasure of the occasion took out the pain of the parting between those who had had so much to do in the making of history in church and community during a period when so much as happened in the world's history. As to the Albany Conference, it was a rare privilege for any man to have been its president, in all, eighteen years, as had been Mr. Schmidt-konz, and always his service in the conference had been of the highest order; it had been marked by conscientiousness and faithfulness. And the speaker felt sure that a man of such strong personality and Christian character must have left a lasting and deep influence wherever he was.

After the singing of "Nach der Heimat," by the Mannerchor, "Toastmaster Lorenz introduced the Rev. Dr. G. A. Bierdemann of Albany, whose topic was "Mrs. A. Schmidt-konz and the congregation." Dr. Bierdemann said that all that had been said of the Rev. Mr. Schmidt-konz could well be said of his wife and helpmate, who was fundamental to it all. In his career as pastor of a Christian church she had given balance, reinforcement, heart-deep interest and whole-hearted support and encouragement. She had been a splendid wife. She had been a good mother to a good minister, and so she, too, had ministered largely to his congregation. And having also a profound interest in the office of the ministry, she had wanted to see it perpetuated, and on the happy occasion her son, their son, a minister of the gospel and their daughters were there as evidence of the noble Christian mother she had been. In closing his address which was enlivened with many a witty story, Dr. Bierdemann said, addressing Mrs. Schmidt-konz: "You have wrought well; we know you have wrought well; may God bless you and prosper you as you go on in life with Adam, not the first man nor the last man."

The church choir then sang, "Eventide," Carl Will singing the incidental solo. Then came some numbers which were not on the program, but which were exceedingly important. Mr. Fickler, in behalf of the Roundabout Mannerchor, expressed to Pastor Schmidt-konz the appreciation of that organization of his friends, who were present and presented to the same Tambour clock, and, in German, Pastor Schmidt-konz responded at length, giving utterance to his gratitude and his appreciation of the society and its members.

Then Mrs. Kullman, president of the Ladies' Aid Society, read resolutions from that organization, expressive of the esteem, love and gratitude in which they held both the Pastor and Mrs. Schmidt-konz, who had been such a faithful friend, such a devoted helper; such a wonderful woman in their midst. In bidding them farewell, Mrs. Kullman assured them that on any occasion of their return they would find a most cordial welcome awaiting them by the ladies of the church and members of the congregation. Following Mrs. Kullman, Charles Anger, treasurer of the church, in German, paid his tribute to the pastor and his wife, reminding all present of how the Rev. Mr. Schmidt-konz while most deeply interested in the spiritual welfare of his people had never failed to also have an active interest in all that appertained to the material welfare of the church. While his subject was "Pastor and Congregation," for that congregation he wished to present to Mrs. Schmidt-konz a gift from the entire congregation as expressive of their love and devotion, and he gave to her a check for $1,000. Although almost overcome by the exceeding generosity of the gift, Mrs. Schmidt-konz managed to express with deep feeling the gratitude of both her husband and herself over such a munificent remembrance from a loving people and assured them that it would be used to further the work of the church and its cause.

After the charming rendition of a piano duet, "Capriccio," by Wachs, played by the Misses Lina and Sophie Schmidt-konz, Carl Will in behalf of the Sunday school of which he is superintendent, and also in behalf of the Young Peoples' Society of which Herman La Tour is president, presented Mr. Schmidt-konz with $100 in gold and an accompanying note expressive of their love and appreciation of all that his pastorate and fatherly advice and admonition and helpfulness has been to the Sunday school and the Young Peoples' Society. Mr. Schmidt-konz was deeply touched by this token and words of love from his "Two good boys," as he called Mr. Will and Mr. La Tour and added to the pleasure of the evening by announcing that he had seen Mr. La Tour during the day and that he was really much better. Then he thanked them.

The next speaker was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Schmidt-konz, the Rev. L. Schmidt-konz of Trenton, N. J., whose subject was "So lebt denn wohl!" First in German and then in English the younger pastor be-spoke for his father's family, their love for and enjoyment of the home in Kingston which had meant so much to them all these years. The place itself had been an inspiration and they had made friends for a lifetime here. In leaving this home, there was much sadness in the memories would be theirs to carry with them into the new home being prepared for them in Englewood. So, Mr. Schmidt-konz, Jr., closed with a recital of the entire poem, "So lebt denn wohl!" as expressive of children's gratitude to the home of their childhood.

Then the three daughters, the Misses Hannah, Lina, and Sophie, sang sweetly, accompanied by their mother, "Mit Gott."

At this time Toastmaster Lorenz read a letter from Mrs. George P. Chandler in behalf of the doctor and herself, expressing what to them seemed the loss to the community in the going of Pastor Schmidt-konz and family, whose service had been of such great value. The letter also said that they were giving to their departing friends a real Italian miniature in rare Florentine frame, a valued treasure of Mrs. Chandler's late uncle, for they felt that there was no one to whom they would feel happier to have it go than to Pastor and Mrs. Schmidt-konz. Their best wishes for the future accompanied the gift.

After playing "The End of a Perfect Day," by Miss Hannah Schmidt-konz, came the closing words by Pastor Schmidt-konz, in which with deep emotion he said that when the heart was deeply stirred words afforded but a poor medium of expression. While he had been amused and entertained throughout the evening and made happy, there had, after all, been a sad, a sore spot deep down in his heart that they were about to part from their dear friends and congregation; from the church and the various organizations where there had never been dissensions or misunderstandings but always loving cooperation and helpfulness. But Christians do not say good by as do other men, for them the farewell looks to the future, all in God's hands. Though leaving them, Pastor Schmidt-konz assured all present that he would ever be glad and ready to be of any possible service to them at any time, and he asked for God's richest blessing upon them all.

With the singing of "God Be With You Till We Meet Again," by Mrs. Schmidt-konz and daughters, the reciting in unison of the Lord's Prayer, the pronouncing of the benediction and the Doxology, the farewells were finally said.

The Rev. Mr. Schmidt-konz was born in Germany and received his early education in the schools of that country. After passing his theological examinations he was sent by the Lutheran Church of Germany to this country in 1879, but as he had not yet reached the prescribed age for ordination to the ministry he took a post-graduate course in the theological seminary in Mendota, Ill., and in 1880 was ordained pastor by the Lutheran Synod of Iowa, and sent as a missionary to Kansas. There he worked for two years, establishing several Lutheran churches.

In 1882 he was called to St. Paul's Church, Port Chester, where he served as pastor until 1888, when he came to this city as pastor of the Spring Street Lutheran Church, where he has successfully served the past thirty-five years.

In 1880, the year he was ordained, the Rev. Mr. Schmidt-konz married Miss Anna Berkmeyer, daughter of the Rev. William Berkmeyer of New York city, who has been his able helpmate in the years that have followed. Mrs. Schmidt-konz during her residence in Kingston has endeared herself to a host of friends by her fine Christian character, and has devoted her married life to assisting her husband and bringing up their five children, exemplifying her belief that the proper upbringing of her children was the ideal toward which every Christian mother should strive.

The Rev. Mr. Schmidt-konz, notwithstanding his activity, when this country entered the World War performed his whole duty to the country of his adoption, and there was never a question raised as to his unwavering loyalty to the United States during that dark period of the world's history.

The Rev. Mr. Schmidt-konz and his wife left today for his new home in Englewood, N. J., where he expects to reside. He delayed his departure from Kingston until today in order that he might perform his duty as a citizen by voting at the polls this morning before he left. With him also went his children, the Rev. Louis Schmidt-konz, pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Advent at Trenton, N. J., Miss Hannah Schmidt-konz, of Mount Holly, and the Misses Lina and Sophie of this city. While out of active service as a pastor he is not retired from active service in the Lutheran Church and will be connected with the various church boards, committees and organizations. He also expects to preach frequently as supply in various Lutheran churches.

HOPPE FAVORITE FOR HILLARD CHAMPIONSHIP

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Nov. 6.—Hillard authorities here were of the opinion today that Willie Hoppe would retain his title of world's champion at the 2nd halflime when he meets Walker Cochran in the play off match in Chicago next month. Champion and challenger finished in a tie with four victories and one defeat each in the International tournament concluded last night, but Hoppe played so brilliantly in coming far from the rear to defeat Jake Schaefer, five hundred to 117, that the general belief that he will survive the impending test with Cochran.

Schaefer led at one stage of the proceedings, 320 to 69, but could not withstand Hoppe's late lining rush, which included runs 172 and 152. Schaefer finished third in the tournament.

Cochran, who defeated both Hoppe and Schaefer, early in the tournament, also came from behind in defeating Edmond Foreman, of Belgium in the afternoon match, 500 to 172.

Foreman finished in a tie with Erich Hagenbach, of Germany, for fourth place, and Roger Conti, of France, was last without scoring a victory in five matches.

WILLS WINS BUT SHOWS NO PUNCH

By Davis J. Walsh.

New York, Nov. 6.—Lost, somewhere between August, 1921, and November, 1923, on 'first class punch. Under please return to Harry Wills.

That, according to the consensus of local intellect, may well be written in the interest of the negro challenger for Jack Dempsey's title as a result of his efforts at the First Regiment armory, Newark, last night. Wills knocked out Jack Thompson in the fourth round. He proved that he could not or would not punch, say our best minds. Sounds contradictory but the plot is still unwound.

Thompson made little effort to fight Wills, yet he took all that Harry did to offer without visible discomfort, even going so far as to playfully expose his jaw to Wills's attack in the third round. At the end a towel was tossed in the ring at the count of two with only five seconds of the round remaining. In short, the bout could have been prolonged by at least one more round, if any one felt so inclined.

No one was. This sweeping statement included Thompson. Wills, the gentleman of the press and 12,000 customers. All had had a great plenty and a movement immediately was launched to call in the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Spectators. It was found that agents of the society were busy watching two bootleggers split the difference.

Nearly every one who viewed the performance were in accord with the belief that Dempsey may entertain slight concern over the Wills problem, if he ever did. On what he showed last night, Wills couldn't hope to punch with Dempsey for five minutes. He either could not or would not hit Thompson as a heavy-weight push-over should be hit.

It has been common gossip for several years that Wills's hands have gone bad, that a hard wallop landed on some resistant jaw would drive his fist up through his elbow. Wills punched Thompson as though he feared the next blow would be his last.

If that is the way he feels about it, the public might just as well look around for a new challenger. This will be easier to find than new hands.

Greb Beats Jones.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Pittsburgh, Nov. 6.—Harry Greb is still middleweight champion of the world today but only after his opponent, Soldier Jones, dropped the champion twice in the opening round of a ten round bout here last night, with his sledge hammer blows. Greb was master of the situation from the second round.

FOURNIER WAS WORRY TO WALTER JOHNSON

Caused Washington Star More Trouble Than Ty Cobb.

For seventeen years Walter Johnson, famous pitcher of the Washington Nationals, has starred in the American league. Walter figures he has three or four more good years ahead of him, if he is able to heal a leg injury suffered in the middle of the season that has seriously interfered with his pitching stride.

During his career in the American league, Johnson has seen the entire personnel of the American league change, with the exception of Ty Cobb. The Detroit manager is the only player remaining in the league of the many players who made up the various teams when Johnson made his debut in 1907. Johnson, over a stretch of seventeen years, has faced all the great hitters of the American league. Recently some one asked him what batter he feared most. His reply was characteristic of the modest Johnson.

"I have a fear of every good batter, and there have been and still are a lot of them in the American league. I have found out that it is a good policy to never get careless, but have a certain amount of respect for every hitter. Failure to work properly on some players generally regarded as a weak batter often upsets a well-pitched game.

"I could name a score of batters who have made lots of trouble for me, but I don't believe I ever pitched to a player who took more liberties with my stuff than Jacques Fournier, now a member of the Brooklyn Nationals. When Fournier was with the White Sox his specialty was hitting for extra bases when I pitched. No matter how I worked on him he seemed to have no trouble solving my offerings. Fournier was the original tough guy for me. I'm glad he's in the National league."

Sarcastic Stuff Riled National League Umpire

The newest baseball story concerns Umpire Hank O'v. The players of one of the National league teams were given a dressing-room talk by one of the team owners, which made a deep impression on them. It was all about good sportsmanship and gentlemanly behavior and other things of a high ethical standard. The team owner cited many of the customs of English sportsmanship. "You'd be better ball players and better men," he said, "if you treat your opponents as friends and good fellows, and gentlemen. You'll get better averages and better breaks if you treat umpires with respect and consideration." Three men of the team, during the first inning that day, addressed the umpire as "Mr. O'Day," whereupon Hank walked over to the dugout and earnestly remarked: "If you guys pull any of that sarcastic stuff in the next inning I'll put you off the lot. See?"—London Tit-Bits.

Football 100 Years Old.

Rugby football reached its century this year. It owes its origin to the famous Rugby school in England. A hundred years ago William Ellis took, for the first time, a football into his hands and ran with it, and by this action he founded the handling code.
